as Obstacle to Advance

(By United Press.)

Paris, July 15.—The long range bombardment of Paris was resumed this afternoon after a rest of several weeks.

London, July 15.—The German offensive was resumed this morning on the 50-mile front extending from Chateau Thierry east into the Champagne region.

Latest reports here stated that the Germans had crossed the Marne at several points. French positions have been penetrated at some points to a depth of nearly three miles. Some villages have been captured.

The French official statement announced that the attack extended eastward from Chateau Thierry to Main de Messiges and the battle is continuing. The French are sustaining their positions, the Paris war office stated.

At least two distinct American forces are involved in the new drive—those in the region of Chateau Thierry and those near Battle-du-Mesnil.

Early indications are that the enemy is combining a drive northward toward Paris with a desperate effort to capture Rheims and eliminate that city as an obstacle to the advance.

The Champagne region thrust has been linked up with the Flanders, Picardy, Oise and Marne fronts, forming a battle line of nearly 250 miles extending from Main de Messiges in the Champagne to Ypres in Flanders.

The bombardment of Meaux, 25 miles west and south of the Chateau Thierry and less than that distance from Paris, gives the theory that the new drive is intended as a resumption of the advance on Paris.

French Fight Magnificently

Paris, July 15.—The French army of the Champagne is holding magnificently against the Germans, according to dispatches received from the front this afternoon.

The enemy concentration appears to have been greatest between Dormans and Rheims, a front of 25 miles. The Germans are reported to have crossed the Marne at several points between Chateau Thierry and Dormans, which should be easy because of the narrowness of the river, as the French here are holding the Germans in their outpost zone.

Simultaneously with the drive on the 50-mile front between Chateau Thierry and Main de Messiges, the Germans attempted a formidable attack on the Ourcq front toward Im Fere-Milon, 15 miles west of Chateau Thierry.

They encountered a crashing barrage and were unable to leave their own positions.

The main drive appeared to be an attempt by General Von Gallwitz's army, which previously has not been

WEATHER IDEAL FOR FIGHTING

(By United Press.)

With the Americans on the Marne, July 15.—The Germans attacked the American position in the region of Vaux, two miles west of Chateau Thierry, at six o'clock this morning following a heavy bombardment with gas and explosives.

The American artillery responded with a barrage and the situation is well in hand.

The enemy also started a heavy bombardment in the region of Jaulgonne, seven miles east of Chateau Thierry, on the north bank of the Marne.

While the fighting near Chateau Thierry was under way the Germans began bombarding Meaux, 25 miles west and south of Chateau Thierry, on the road to Paris, with long range guns.

The weather has cleared and is ideal for fighting.

The attack and bombardment extends over a front of 10 miles, forming the apex of the new German salient nearest Paris.

The Americans shortly before noon launched a heavy counter attack against large force of Germans which had forced a crossing of the Marne at three points on a four-mile front, east of Chateau Thierry. The result of this fighting is not yet known.

Shortly before, the Americans counter attacked at Vaux west of Chateau Thierry, completely repulsing the German assault. The Americans caught the Boche in a terrific battle, hurling them back almost a half a mile beyond the point where the attack began.

At daybreak the Boche threw bridges across the Marne. Supported by artillery and machine guns, their infantry rushed across in the face of heavy fire.

The Germans succeeded in crossing the river at three places.

Their first rush carried the Germans forward east of Chateau Thierry a mile and a quarter at the point of greatest penetration. The Americans held the Germans to even smaller gains elsewhere east of Chateau Thierry according to indications.

American resistance finally slowed down the German advance. Separation for a counter attack began immediately and the Americans went forward to the attack before the enemy could reorganize his badly shattered unit.

West of Chateau Thierry the enemy's effort to recapture Vaux lasted only a couple of hours, after which the American's counter-attacked and thrust them far beyond the starting point.

For miles in the rear the country was shaken by artillery firing as though by an earthquake. The valleys near Vaux were heavily deluged with gas, forcing the Americans to fight in masks.

The German losses were heavy everywhere, but particularly in sec-

DR. TUCKER IS PROMOTED

Former Rushville Physician is Made a Captain at Camp Shelby

Dr. Carroll J. Tucker, formerly of this city, who was commissioned a first lieutenant at the medical officers training camp at Fort Benjamin Harrison after giving up his practice here and enlisting, has been promoted to captain, according to dispatches from Hattiesburg, Miss., where he is stationed with the 151st infantry. Captain Tucker has made rapid progress in the army and is now within one step of the highest command for a medical officer—a major. He is attached to the sanitary detachment of the regiment.

CHAUTAUQUA BEGINS EARLIER THIS YEAR

Saturday Night Program is Arranged
so That Rush County
Audience May Hear W. J. Bryan

The Rush county chautauqua has been enlarged and for the first time in a number of years will comprise a nine day session instead of eight days which has become a custom.

The change was made today when the announcement came that William Jennings Bryan could be secured for the local program only on Saturday evening, Aug. 3, which is the day before the scheduled opening of the chautauqua. In order that Rush county chautauqua visitors might be given the advantage of having another speaker of national importance added to the already excellent program, the board decided that the initial session of the annual meet would be held on Saturday evening with the address by Mr. Bryan.

Mr. Bryan has announced that his address during the first part of the evening will be on the warring conditions which will be continued during the evening if the program committee so desires. If not, the committee has five lectures from which they might choose for the remainder of the program.

FIRST OF CLASS ONE MEN ARE EXAMINED

Fifteen Are Called For Tomorrow and Seventeen Wednesday to Undergo Physical Tests

GLEN SMELSER RECLASSIFIED

The first of three groups of class one registrants of the class of 1918 were being examined today by the physician member of the county army selection board and others are called for tomorrow and Wednesday. Fifteen will be given the physical test tomorrow and seventeen Wednesday. One of the number called for Wednesday is a 1917 registrant who has been reclassified in one. These are all of the class one men available for examination and others will be called for examination as soon as appeals and claims for deferred classification on account of farming work are ruled on by the district board.

The local board has received word that Glen Smelser of Falmouth, who was given class three on an agricultural claim by the district board, has been moved up to class two by the higher board.

DESCRIBES HOW HE WAS WOUNDED

Letter From Tom Saunders Arrives
Few Hours After News of Being in Hospital is Received

HIT BY PIECE OF SHRAPNEL

He and Pal Walking Along Edge of Woods While Germans Were Firing—Regret at Inactivity

Although the wounds received in the marine battle of June 13 have kept Tom Saunders in a French hospital far behind the firing lines, the letter which came from him Saturday telling of the battle in which he was wounded, contains a note of regret and keen disappointment that the Boche got him even for a small wound which necessitates his absence from the battle for a few weeks.

"But we certainly knocked the Germans in our sector," writes the young Rush county warrior. "We made an advance on a woods and in one whirlwind drive, piled up score after score of dead Huns—most of whom were shot in the back. A large bunch of them ran, leaving all of their supplies and equipment behind, but the next day came over and several hundred gave themselves up voluntarily."

"I was injured in the battle about eleven o'clock on Thursday evening of June 13. My pal and I were walking along the edge of a wood in which was our front line which the Germans were bombing heavily. A shell exploded about ten feet from us as we walked along, knocking both of us down by the force of the explosion. We were not hurt, however, and had proceeded about ten yards farther when another shell hit and this time a piece of shrapnel struck my arm and penetrated to the depth of an inch and a quarter just below the shoulder. It burned for a little while at the time but has not hurt much since."

Because his injuries are evidently not serious, young Saunders regretfully speaks of the fact that he is away from the front with no chance to get back at present as he is forced to live in pajamas, because his own clothing was so full of mustard gas at the time he was injured they were destroyed, and that no other had been issued.

"The hospital is in a fine location," continues the writer, "and before the war was used as a fashionable hotel in a large summer resort." The letter speaks of him having become acquainted with Ruskin Bunnell, son of the Rev. C. J. Bunnell, whose letter which arrived Saturday morning brought the first news of his wounds and those of Saunders, who were injured at about the same time.

HOME SERVICE A SUCCESS

Indianapolis, Ind., July 15.—More than 1,500 families of Indiana soldiers are securing aid from the Red Cross home service each month, according to a report made today by Red Cross officials. Each of the 105 chapters of the organization in Indiana has started a home service section to take care of men in the service.

ONE ASSASSIN EXECUTED

Pays Death Penalty for Murder of German Ambassador Mirbach

Stockholm, July 15.—One of the assassins of German Ambassador Mirbach has been executed, according to dispatches received from Moscow. The other assassin has not been captured. It is reported that Germany will also demand the execution of two of the social revolutionaries arrested in the Moscow revolt which followed his death. Passengers arriving here on a boat from Petrograd brought news of riots there. They said that several hundred soldiers and workmen fought the Red Guard for hours. They were subdued only after an artillery bombardment of the arsenal.

CHARLES CASEY'S CAR STOLEN SUNDAY NIGHT

Taken From the Street at Side of Primitive Baptist Church and No Clew Is Obtained

EVIDENTLY NOT JOYRIDERS

The automobile owned by Charles Casey was taken from the side of the Primitive Baptist church in West Sixth street last night about nine o'clock, with no clew to the auto thieves yet in the hands of the local police authorities.

The stealing of the machine was the first theft of this kind to be reported to the Rushville police in three years and as similar violations have been occurring in the surrounding cities and towns, it is believed that last night's raid was made by the people who have accomplished the similar thefts.

The belief at first that the machine was taken by a party of joyriders and would be returned or found on a country road in the county, was entertained last night but telephone messages in every vicinity as well as to police headquarters in other cities have failed to bring results.

Mr. Casey with evident determination to recover the stolen machine, is combing the surrounding country for the car and has offered a reward to any person who will be able to locate the missing car.

DISPLAY OF FLAGS IS ONLY OBSERVANCE

Tri Color of France Floats From Court House and Many Homes on Bastille Day

IS MENTIONED IN SERMONS

The tri-colors of France, which floated side by side with the Stars and Stripes on the flag staff over the court house yesterday, as well as from the homes of local residents, was Rushville's silent tribute to France and her part taken in the celebration of Bastille Day the birthday of the French republic.

No public demonstration was made here as was at first suggested, and aside from the fact that mention of the celebration was made in all of the churches, which formed the topic for the sermon at either the morning or evening service, no other observance was made. Tiny French flags were worn and visiting motor parties which passed through the city were gaily decorated with French colors.

EXPLORES CHATEAU OF FRENCH FAMILY

Lowell Henley While Repairing Electrical Equipment in Mansion
Visits Entire Grounds

TAKEN OVER BY RED CROSS

Furniture Four Hundred Years Old is of Louis Fourteenth Age
Furnished Entire Home

"I feel like some specter haunting deserted halls," writes Lowell Henley from an old French chateau where he was repairing the electrical works in the beautiful old home which the Red Cross has taken over for a convalescent hospital.

"It seems that tomorrow the gay-hearted family which surely lived in such delightful surroundings must return to this beautiful country but then comes the thought that these are war times and even now the master is at the front where he has kept his place for four years."

Young Henley, who with a unit of motor mechanics has been actively engaged in various kinds of repair work on roads and in buildings since his arrival in France several weeks ago, has written a most interesting letter to his sister, Mrs. Leonard Clark, describing the old French home, located near Issoudun in Indre, which is south of Paris and about 500 miles from the front. A portion of the letter follows:

"The chateau sits in the center of a big woods with lanes leading in six directions through the dense forest. The vicinity of the house is a beautiful cultivated garden of roses and shrubbery arranged in most artistic conventional designs. Although the gardens are not up to the top notch in landscape gardening due to the fact that the place has been closed for four years, it is still most attractive and will again be in good shape under the direction of the convalescent soldiers who will take great pleasure in such work."

"The house is built of white stone with natural oak wood trimmings. On stepping into the entrance hall, four leaded glass doors open into various rooms and from here also the grand staircase ascends to the mysteries of the second, third and fourth floors of the gorgeous home. One door leads to the smoking room, one to the reception room, another to the dining room and the other to the back part of the house which includes the kitchen, pantry and cooks living quarters."

"The stairs lead to the bed rooms on the second floor where another large hall connects all of the rooms, the hall itself being furnished much in the same manner as the large card rooms in our club houses at home. The floors are hard wood and although we tramped over them in our hob nail shoes, there was not even a scratch to be found on their shiny surface."

"There are five bed chambers on the second floor each with a large closet and an adjoining room for 'm'lady's maid' or 'm'gentleman's man' as the case may be. Two of the rooms have bathrooms between them. On the third floor, servants quarters are located."

"One of the most interesting parts of a French home is the cellar—or was before the war—for there year after year, the stock of wines and liquors is stored. The cellar is cemented and white washed, there being the hostlers quarters, the furnace room, vegetable room, store room and wine room, the last as large as all of the others combined, and is piled high with barrels and bottles that at one time contained

Emphatically Asserts Worn Out, Lagging Men Can Quickly Become Vigorous and Full of Ambition

7 A DAY FOR 7 DAYS

Don't blame the man who is perpetually tired; his blood needs more red corpuscles and his brain and nerves are craving for food.

Given the right kind of medicine, any tired-out, inactive, lagging fellow can quickly be made into a real live, energetic and even ambitious man.

So says a student of the nervous system who advises all men and women who feel worn out and who find it hard to get up ambition enough to take a regular job to get a package of Bio-feron at any drugist.

This is the new discovery that pharmacists are recommending because it is not expensive and speedily puts vigor and ambition into people who despair of ever amounting to anything in life.

People whose nerves have been wrecked by too rapid living, too much tobacco or alcohol, have regained their old-time confidence and energy in less than two weeks.

No matter from what cause your nerves went back on you; no matter how run down, nervous or tired out you are, get an original package of Bio-feron at once. Take two tablets after each meal and one before bedtime—seven a day for seven days—then one after each meal till all are gone.

Then if you still lack ambition; if your nerves are not steady and you haven't the energy that red-blooded, keen-minded men possess, your purse money will be gladly returned.

Note to Physicians: There is no secret about the formula of Bio-feron. It is printed on every package. Here it is: Lecithin; Calcium Glycero-phosphate; Iron Peptonate; Manganese Peptonate; Ext. Nux Vomica; Powdered Gentian; Phenolphthalein; Oleoresin Capsicum; Kola.

A Good Furnace at a Low Cost

HERE is a furnace which meets the requirements of those who do not care to buy a big, expensive furnace, yet who insist upon better furnace value that can be had by the purchase of a furnace of the ordinary type.

The Williamson 400 Series Furnace while sold at a price within the reach of most everyone, is in no way a cheap furnace.

In its construction are embodied nearly all of the features which will be found in the most expensive furnaces.

It is carefully built by a factory which has been building nothing but furnaces for many years and whose product is dependable.

It will give many years of excellent service and, not only is it low first in cost but it is also very economical to operate.

It will be well worth your while to investigate this low cost furnace. Come in, we will explain its advantages.

IMPORTANT CASES DEMAND SESSION

Supreme Court Will be Called Into Special Meeting This Week to Hand Down Decisions

HIGHWAY WORK IS HELD UP

Indianapolis Street Car Increased Fare Case Demands Immediate Attention by Court

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., July 15.—That the supreme court will be called into special session this week to hand down decisions on important cases now pending, was the general belief today. The court usually does not hand down any decisions from the day it recesses for the summer until the October meeting, but because of the importance of some cases now before it, several judges are said to be of the opinion that a special session should be held.

The work of the state highway commission is now being held up pending the court's decision on the case appealed from the Hamilton county circuit court wherein the law was declared unconstitutional.

The Indianapolis street car increased fare case is also before the court. The company states that it cannot improve the service until increased revenue is obtained. Service to plants in the outskirts of the city making war material is inefficient, according to city officials and causes these plants great difficulty in procuring laborers.

A quick decision on this case is deemed important in many quarters.

TWO LOCAL BOYS ARE SUCCESSSES AS FLYERS

Howard Miller, Who is Training in Naval Aviation, is Now Making Solo Flights

STACY HINKLE IN AIR STUNTS

Of the numerous Rush county boys who have enviable places in the United States service, two have already met with success in the aviation corps both on land and water.

Howard Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Miller who reside south of the city, is about to finish one of the most complete courses in naval aviation given by the navy department. Having trained in the mosquito fleet for some time, he was entered in the hydroplane school in Florida, training at Key West, Miami and Pensacola where he has lately made solo flights. The aerial bomb and gunnery course, which is the last step in the training course, has almost been completed by Cadet Miller after which he will begin active service, probably operating off an eastern coast.

Stacy Hinkle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hinkle of this city, is another local boy who has met with rapid advancement in flying schools. With an engineering course at the Carnegie Institute in Philadelphia to back him up, Cadet Hinkle has made rapid advancement in land aviation and is at present flying thousands of feet in the air at a Texas field where he has already mastered numerous air stunts.

Repeal of Rules Compelling Distribution of Flour on 70 Per Cent Basis Has This Effect

SELLERS NOT RESTRICTED

Notice of the repeal of rules 27 and 28 relative to the distribution of wheat flour on the 70 per cent basis, was received today by Dr. Harry E. Barnard, federal food administrator for Indiana. The effect of this repeal permits the sale and purchase by wholesalers and jobbers, of wheat flour without reference to the 70 per cent restriction, based upon the volume of business during the three months periods from February 1 to April 30 and May 1 to July 31 in 1918. This limitation was in proportion to the purchases made in the corresponding three months of 1917. The effect of rule 28 was to regulate distribution by districts and prohibited the seeking of new markets or channels of distribution.

It is now permissible that millers secure a wheat supply from any available sources.

REV. CLYDE S. BLACK SPEAKS AT ASSEMBLY

Delivers Sermon-Lecture Sunday at Mt. Gretna Park, Pa., Where he is Visiting

SPEAKS AT OLD HOME ALSO

The Rev. Clyde S. Black, pastor of the St. Paul's Methodist church here, delivered the morning address at Mt. Gretna park, Pennsylvania yesterday.

The sermon-lecture was one of the numbers of the Mt. Gretna claustrum which is now in session and was one of the series of addresses being delivered by the local minister in Pennsylvania where he is visiting. The preceding Sunday the Rev. Mr. Black delivered the sermon in Myerstown, his old home, in connection with an open air service which was being held on Mohr Hall campus. The Rev. Mr. Black will be absent from his charge here during the remainder of the month of July.

Mrs. Mary E. Barsott who has been ill for several days at her home in East Sixth street, is slightly improved today.

Herman Kinnett, a registrant of the class of 1917 who enlisted in the engineers corps last winter, has been promoted and is now a second lieutenant, according to word received by the local army selection board.

No Uniforms for Farm Workers

The idea of furnishing a uniform for industrial workers, while it appeals very greatly to sentiment, appears to be altogether impracticable. Farm labor does not suggest a uniform. For the most part, farm labor is done in shirt sleeves and overalls, and such town people as may be induced to do farm labor will find it more economical and more convenient to use their old clothes.—Clarence Ousley, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture.

MILROY CHAUTAUQUA BROUGHT TO A CLOSE

1918 Assembly is Most Successful Ever Held From Financial Stand-point—Frenchman Speaks

SPIRIT OF FRANCE HIS TOPIC

"We do not know when the war will end, nor do we care," declared Lieut. Jaun Picard of the French army in an address on "The Spirit of France" which was delivered before the Milroy chautauqua on Saturday night. "The all important factor which concerns the Frenchman today is how it will end."

The address on Saturday evening was by far the most thrilling of the entire program and as the French officer told the story of the conditions as they exist in France, a Rush county audience was given the opportunity, for the first time, of coming in contact with the true spirit of France—the earnest, self sacrificing spirit among the men and women of a country which has placed a peace with honor as the goal of the fight.

The fifth annual affair closed with last night's program after the people enjoying one of the most interesting and best attended programs since the chautauqua sessions began in 1914. The program was given by the Coit Alber circuit of Cleveland, Ohio, and because of the satisfactory program, the same circuit will furnish the 1919 program. Financially, the executive committee announced that the 1918 chautauqua was the most successful since its organization.

engaged in the German offensive, to converge upon Chalons, 24 miles southwest of Rheims from several points. There are many apparent reasons for the enemy drive aside from the immediate objective of Chalons. It is obviously a part of the attempted advance toward Paris. The enemy also hopes to take Rheims, which already is surrounded on three sides, and evidently Von Gallwitz's is trying to enlarge the salient created in the previous Marne drive.

The only American troops that will ever "take to flight" are our squadrons of "Eagles," and when they get busy, the Hun will desperately wish they had "stood their ground."

Artists in Berlin, ironically enough, when they ask for "Prussian Blue," are informed that it cannot be obtained, and to make the situation still more ironical, they are given in its place, "Parisian Blue."

Another woman has been acquitted for killing a mere man. If this thing keeps up it will not be long before the life insurance companies will be forced to include this mode of death with suicide in their list of "exceptions."

More German Duplicity

If the world would have absolute proof of the deep duplicity of the German nation it can be found in the statement from high German authority, that that nation instead of numbering sixty millions of people, as given out at the opening of the war, in reality numbered ninety millions. There can be no doubt that for years past, Germany's census returns have been deliberately falsified. There could have been but one object in this—deceiving the world as to her true strength. The allied world knows now, however, that it is fighting a monster of gigantic proportions, and is making its preparations accordingly.

Unused Material

The defeat in congress of the amendment of the revenue bill extending the selective draft to 40 years and backward to 18, if it indicates anything like a permanent policy of the government, will place our country in a most anomalous position.

The call from overseas is for more and more men—millions and more millions of men. Already the newspapers are reporting from every section of the country that Class 1 of the former draft is practically exhausted. Secretary Baker has stated that we are transporting troops at the rate of 400,000 a month. The men coming of age in the past year number scarcely a million, and not nearly all of these will be listed in Class 1. From where are recruits coming during the next three or four months? Will we have to go into the lower classes to secure them?

Many public men of sound judgment favored placing the age limit at 40 or 45 in the beginning. This, it seems to us, would have been the wiser course. Our country has a wealth of good fighting material between the ages of 31 and 45. Thousands of these men would make capital soldiers. They are inured to life's hard knocks, settled in their habits, and with very little training would be a match for Germany's best.

The people of the country can not afford to permit themselves to be lured into a false sense of security, just because the Allies have held the western line; just because they have defeated the great Austrian offensive is no indication that victory is even remotely in sight. The German machine is still militant and it will take millions of Americans to bring the allied armies to a point where real offensive warfare can be risked. There is a vast difference between holding the western line, and marching to Berlin. Germany must be greatly reduced and the Allies immeasurably strengthened before the latter move can be undertaken—and we must not even dream of relaxing our efforts until this is effected.

Our ship-building program assures us that transport facilities will constantly increase from now on. Why, then, should all this unused material in fighting men—material of the very best—be left unused? All the other allied nations have utilized all their available fighting force.

Some may ask, who will take the places of these men in industrial life? And we give the Yankee's answer by asking another question: Who have taken those places in England and France?

We will make a most fatal mistake if we permit the idea to enter the national mind that we can win this war with our surplus. America is going to be forced to trench deeply on her capital before the end comes. Fighting men by millions and material resources by billions must be poured into the vortex before we can rest in victory. Germany would be only too pleased to see us lulled into a false sense of security to the extent of even the least slackening of our intense preparations.

Let's utilize all the latent fighting material as well as material resources.

RUSH COUNTY MUST SAVE ALL SCRAP IRON

Shortage Throughout the Country Demands That Every Available Piece be Utilized

TAKE TO NEAREST JUNK YARD

Because there is a grave shortage of scrap iron throughout the country, Rush county residents both in the towns and rural vicinities are being urged to gather together all available scraps and take them to the nearest scrap yard in order that every available piece of iron may be utilized.

The members of the American Board of Scrap Iron Dealers have been advised by the chairman of the sub-committee on scrap iron and steel of the American Iron & Steel Institute that he has been requested by the director of steel supplies of the War Industries Board to secure the co-operation of all scrap iron dealers for the purpose of locating and reporting all lots of unprepared scrap which are being withheld from the market, particularly in the form of obsolete railways, old mine heads and tipples which are not being operated; unused bridges or similar structures; old manufacturing plants not in operation; contractors' equipment and similar material which should be shipped to the scrap yards for preparation.

How Some Farmers Got Help

In every agricultural district there are farmers who have succeeded in holding their employees in spite of all the attractions offered by other industries. These farmers have usually employed married men and have furnished them with a small but comfortable home. Moreover, the laborers have enjoyed the privilege of raising a small garden and a few pigs and chickens.—Clarence Onley, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture.

40-Year Loans on Farm Lands

Under new Government Plan which pays off entire debt during period of loan

THE Fletcher Savings and Trust Company of Indianapolis has organized, under the Federal Farm Loan Act, a joint stock land bank and received from the Federal Farm Loan Board a charter authorizing it to lend money on Indiana and Illinois farms under the Government's amortization plan.

Under this plan a small payment is made each year upon the principal of the loan—so that at the end of 40 years, the principal, as well as the interest, has been paid and the debt wiped out.

Loan will be made only for 40 years, thus doing away with the expense and risk of renewals incident to loans for 5 years or less.

The borrower will pay $66.46 annually for each $1,000 he borrows, the interest rate being 6%.

This annual payment includes interest and such sum for application on the principal that the loan will be paid off at the end of 40 years.

After five years from the date of the loan additional payments for the reduction or extinguishment of the principal debt may be made on any installment date.

Applications will be given PROMPT attention and if accepted will be closed within the shortest possible time.

We are ready to receive applications for and make loans of this character through the Fletcher Joint Stock Land Bank, which is the only one in Indiana. We will be glad to have your application, or to consult with you and furnish any other information that may be desired. Call and see us.

Uncle Sam Looks After Men As Carefully As Hen Does Her Chicks

Uncle Sam looks after his soldier boys in camp as carefully as a hen with one chick does after her offspring. When it comes to the health of the Army nothing is too small to take into account. The pernicious microbe is microscopic in size, but it could do a lot of damage if let alone.

The grounds about the camps are kept free of rubbish and decaying matter. Garbage cans are covered and screened. Traps are set to catch flies. The instructions given the men are explicit and leave no room for personal views as to sanitation. War is being made upon disease as scientifically as upon the Kaiser.

In some of the camps the drill grounds are oiled. It was discovered that the dust stirred by tramping feet caused respiratory troubles. So the order went out, "No dust." And there is none.

Talking of feet, the Government pays a great deal of attention to the "number nines" of the troops. Orthopedists examine bad feet, prescribe exercises and give treatment. As a result the disability is often removed and the feet restored to normal.

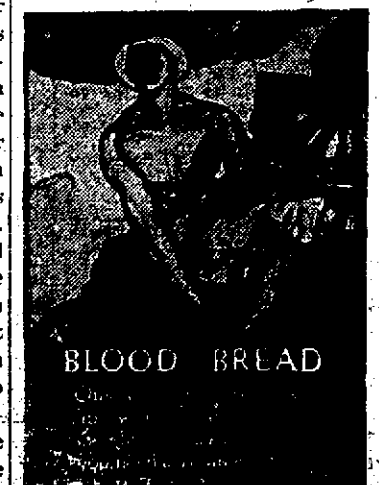

Special attention is given also to shoes. The army shoe is in itself a panacea for almost 75 per cent of the ills the foot is heir to. As a result of this sensible shoe the corn crop in some camps is a total failure. Minor ailments also disappear. Service in the Army will save thousands of our boys from the sufferings that come in middle age from wearing ill-fitting shoes in their young manhood.

Another matter that comes under the keen eye of the medical authorities is shaving. A general order has been issued requiring all barbers employed at the various camp barber shops to wash their hands with soap and water before attendance upon each man. Towels used for one patron can not be used again until laundered. Caps and brushes must be scalded after each shaving.

A recent survey of the physical condition of the men at one of the camps shows, by comparison with the data taken at their coming that they have gained from a half inch to an inch in height and from 5 to 25 pounds in weight. This is a convincing demonstration, both to the men themselves and to the home folks, of the value of substantial and nourishing food, regular hours, sanitary environment, and regular exercises. Stooped shoulders have been straightened, caved-in chests filled out, sagging "tummies" made hard and able to hold their own in the place where nature intended them to be, and steps that once dragged listlessly move with a springiness and vigor that indicate the healthy man.

If your boy is in the Army, 10 to 1 he is in better health than he has ever been in his life. He is being looked over outside, and one might almost say inside, as he has never been before. And if anything is wrong with him it will be put right if science and skill can do it.

AMENDMENTS BY WATSON ARE LOST

Proposals to Except Telephone and Press Wires Form Wire Control Bill Are Defeated

MEASURE GOES TO WILSON

Speaking in Support of Amendments, Senator Watson Says There is Need For This Power

Amendments introduced by Senator James E. Watson of this city, for which he spoke on the floor of the senate Saturday afternoon, were voted down and the senate passed the house resolution without amendment, granting President Wilson the power to take over and operate the telephone, telegraph, cable and radio lines for the period of the war. Washington dispatches relate.

All attempts to amend or modify the administration measure, which passed the house July 5 by a vote of 231 to 4, were defeated at a session lasting until 9 o'clock Saturday night. Amendments by Senator Watson to except telephones and press wires from the resolution were defeated, respectively, 41 to 20 and 39 to 21. An amendment by Senator Gore of Oklahoma, democrat, to limit action regarding telegraphs to long distance wires was voted down.

In his speech on the wire bill, Senator Watson said that he intends to stand by President Wilson as the commander in chief of the army and navy and the executive of the nation on every proposition that he favors, but that he does not propose to stand by him as the head and director of the democratic party. He said that the taking over of the telephone and telegraph lines will give party and political control over these great utilities and their employees and declared that it is admitted by the secretaries of both the army and navy that there is no reason for such control of wires.

Senators voting for the Watson amendment to exempt telephone wires from the operation of the resolution were Borah, Brandegee, Curtis, Fernald, France, Frelinghuysen, Hale, Harding, Kellogg, Knox, Lenroot, McCumber, New, Penrose, Sherman, Smith, (Mich.), Smoot, Sterling, Wadsworth and Watson.

Republican opposition to the measure was based largely on the contention that no military necessity had been shown, and on objections to what was termed a further step toward government ownership and socialism.

Although the statements of the cabinet officers indicated that the powers might be used, as soon as granted, there has been no announcement as to just what the president intends to do or when. During debate on the resolution it was said the government would take over only trunk lines and connecting systems, leaving to their own managements the thousands of rural and small independent systems throughout the country.

With Taking Over of Mail Distribution by Army, Numerous Postal Clerks Are Returned

MONEY ORDER DEPARTMENT

Although numerous postal clerks have been ordered to return to this country following the taking over of the incoming mail in foreign camps by the army postal service, Harvey Allen, a former employee in the local postoffice, will be retained in foreign service.

Among the numerous clerks who are being returned to this country, the greatest percent is from those employed in the throwing of the mail. The change in the handling of the soldiers mail was made a short time ago and was turned over to the army authorities because they have first hand information concerning the movement of troops and know exactly where every American unit is located. The fact that Mr. Allen is attached to the money order department instead of the mail distribution accounts for him being re-

FRENCH FIGHT WITH A SMILE

Landscape Fails to Depict Scenes of War With Blooming Flowers and Rolling Fields

Stating that despite numerous bombing expeditions by the enemy in their sector his head still remains intact, First Lieut. Charles E. Wolfe, formerly of this city, who with the first motor mechanic regiment is stationed in France, has written an interesting letter to A. L. Riggs.

Lieut. Wolfe, who is the son of the late Col. Edward E. Wolfe, has been in France for five months, going there direct from Washington, D. C., where he held a government position in connection with mechanical engineering.

"This is a beautiful country, especially so at this time of year," declared the writer "and scarcely depicts the scenes of war. The flowers are in bloom; cedars are everywhere and rolling fields, unusual in their fertility, complete a landscape which might rival that in a land of peace and prosperity.

"I can understand how the French are unusually romantic in their nature, living as they do in a country as beautiful as this. Incidentally, they also fight like hell. Yes, they fight with a smile too. A wonderful country and a wonderful patient, earnest people—We must win."

"There is plenty of work here with no time for play. I was called to the headquarters and have been here for three or four days. Called up for physical examination relative to a promotion. I don't know whether I will be sent to the rear or to the front after they get through with me. A fellow becomes a fatalist at this game, so it really doesn't matter where one is sent, as long as we are in the game.

With the irresistible good humor and wit which the former Rushville resident is known to his friends the letter was closed with the request that in the event one of the passing bombs stopped at his post, his friends remember that his favorite flower is "buckwheat."

U. S. DEPT. OF AGRICULTURE

HOW TO CAN

The following recipe for canning baby beets is applicable to carrots. Only young tender beets should be canned to get a high quality product. The best variety for canning is the Detroit.

Sort the beets, putting uniform sizes together. Cut the stems off, but be careful not to cut off too closely or break the root. This will cause loss of juice, color and flavor. Boil in an enameled pan until three-fourths done, peel, pack hot in layers in previously boiled jars, fitting by the first layer and repeating. Cover with clear hot water; partially seal the jars and boil them in a water bath for one hour continuously, counting from the time the water boils again around the jars.

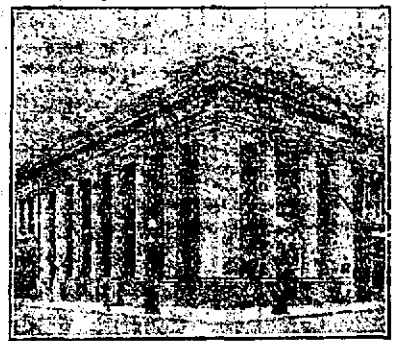

Do not allow cold water to touch the beets after they have been cooked. If beets are packed in tin the cans used must be inside-lacquered. Beets 1 1/2 inch in diameter and over should be cut or sliced before packing into jars. When a steam-pressure canner is used, process pints 30 minutes under 5 pounds steam pressure.—U. S. Department of Agriculture.

WEATHER FOR WEEK

Washington, July 15.—No present indications of much warmer weather. The temperature will average somewhat below normal the first half and nearly normal the second half of the week. No indications of rain of consequence.

A Military Necessity

The Government has effected a mighty organization to finance the war. The plan is extensive in its scope and intensive in purpose to the end that each individual may do his full share in supplying the money, without which the war of necessity would fail.

We are glad to be a part of this great organization and urge you to buy Liberty Bonds—War Savings Stamps—Thrift Stamps—Government Certificates of Indebtedness.

A party composed of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Carr, Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Willey, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Mahin, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wendling, Mr. and Mrs. Cleatus Kuhn, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Downs, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hale, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Willey, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Woul- ing, Mrs. William Hilligoss, Nettie Holsbach, Wilma Carr, Faye Mahin, Violet Willey, Lola Fox, Cora Woul- ing, Mahlon Miller, Capp Miller, Bas- sil Willey, Hale Kuhn, and Chester Carr motored to Pomona's Pillar in Ripley county yesterday and enjoyed a picnic dinner, after which the guests went to McCoy Park, where boating and dancing furnished en- tertainment.

A party of young people motored to McCoy Park near Greensburg Saturday night and enjoyed a picnic supper. Following the supper, the guests were entertained with dan- cing and boating. Among the pic- nicers were Miss Ruby Emerts of Clarksburg, Miss Helen Newhouse, Louis Newhouses and George Wirt of Greensburg and the Misses Rena Mahin, Fern Jones, Elsie Abernathy, Esther Junken and Gladys Trowler, and Merle Kirkpatrick, Eddie Mul- lins, Will Kelso, Harold Perkins, Karl Porter and Carlos Abernathy, of this county.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Allender en- tertained at dinner yesterday at their home in East Eighth street, honoring the Rev. and Mrs. Moody Edwards of Indianapolis who will leave July 22 for Mexico, where the Rev. Mr. Edwards will be engaged in missionary work. Covers were laid for the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Addison, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Addison, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Rennegar, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Blessie Tribby, Thomas Addison and Stephen Addi- son.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Riggs and Mr. and Mrs. John P. Frazee entertain- ed yesterday at the home of the former in North Perkins street with a picnic in dinner, served at noon. A large bowl of summer flowers centered the table, when covers were laid for the following guests: Dr. and Mrs. Henry Chandler and daughter, and Mrs. C. D. Dunn of Craigmont, North Madison, Miss Lu- cile Gray, Dr. F. G. Hackleman and Ralph Hackleman of this city.

A pretty home wedding was so- lemnized yesterday morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hol- brook in Shelbyville when Miss Pau- line Gosnell, formerly of this city, daughter of Mrs. Joseph Houston, became the bride of Ray Bird of Shelbyville. The ceremony was per- formed by the Rev. S. J. Cross of the Shelbyville Methodist church immediately after which Mr. and Mrs. Bird left for West Florence, O. where they will reside.

Mrs. M. V. Spivey will be hostess to the members of the Woman's Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church tomorrow af- ternoon at her home in North Jack- son street. Devotional will be led by Mrs. Spivey, Mrs. Frank Reynolds will review chapter 3 of "The Af- rican Trail" and Miss Maudie Boyd will discuss home work, under the subject of "The Mountaineers."

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Kurtz enter- tained at dinner yesterday at their home in North Julian street, the following guests who motored to this city and spent the day, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Mountain, Miss Marie Fullen of Anderson, and Miss Katherine Mountain of Chicago.

Red Cross Notes

The surgical dressing department at Red Cross headquarters has a large order to fill in a short time, and the heads of the department have asked for extra volunteer workers for the next few weeks. The work is important and there should be a good attendance of workers for awhile at least.

BODY IS BROUGHT HERE FOR FUNERAL

Mrs. Myrtle Lewark Abernathy, the Daughter of William Lewark, Dies in Indianapolis

STROKE OF APOPLEXY FATAL

Following a short illness which resulted from a stroke of apoplexy, Mrs. Myrtle Lewark Abernathy, age 46, daughter of William Lewark of this city, died Saturday afternoon in Indianapolis where she had resided for some time.

The deceased had formerly resid- ed in this city and the body was brought to the home of her father, 516 North Sexton street, yesterday from where the funeral services will be conducted Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock. Aside from her father, one brother, Arlie Lewark of Clairmont, Va., survives. Burial will be made in the East Hill ceme- tery.

Government And Farm Labor

No department of govern- ment has any authority under the law to seize labor nor can the government create labor. The best we can do is to study each situation and to furnish information and every possible assistance in shifting labor from one neighborhood or region to another, and if that is not possible in a given case to call upon the towns and cities dependent upon agriculture to mobilize all town men of farm experience for aid to farmers, if need be, by substituting women in stores and shops in order to relieve the temporary emergency. — Clarence Osuley, Assistant Secretary of Agricul- ture.

One Letter A Week Goal Of Organization

Woman's Section of County Council of Defense Plans to Remember Every Rush County Soldier in the Service and Schedule Will be Map- ped Out. Change to Lend Variety For Sammies.

The woman's section of the Coun- ty Council of Defense has taken up a plan through which they expect to have letters written to each soldier from Rush county at least once a week, for the duration of the war.

A meeting of the chairmen of the various committees was called Sat- urday evening by the county head of woman's work, Mrs. A. L. Stewart. The meeting was held in the sheriff's office of the court house and was at- tended by a dozen members of the county committees, who have al- ready taken preliminary steps in the adoption of the plan.

The plan of the letter writing campaign has not been entirely com- pleted but the women expect to map out a schedule whereby each week, a letter, post card, magazine, news- paper or interesting clippings will be sent to particular soldiers until the close of the war. In order that the plan will prove more interesting to the soldiers, the women and girls writing to the soldiers will change every two or three weeks so that the letters will contain a variety of style for the boys and thus be a source of ever increasing interest.

"We people who are in close touch with the soldiers realize that despite the fact that many of the boys have relatives and friends who shower them with letters and other small considerations," declared Mrs. Ste- wart, "the great majority of the boys are without mothers or any near relatives. In many cases the nearest relatives of the soldiers have died since they have entered service which has made their loss felt in an especially keen degree."

The appreciation which the boys feel for the kindness which is be- stowed on them by the folks back home is evident in the letters which have been received from the rec- ipients of Red Cross socks, in the toe of which there is often the name and address of the knitter.

Letters of thanks have come from these sources—letters which express grateful appreciation for this small service to those who have given up everything that they might fight our battles. Letters are not expected in return for the socks, the names are placed in the toe, merely as a cus- tom but it is pleasant to think that a pair of young eyes belonging to someone who is fighting his coun- try's battles sees it and perhaps thinks gratefully of the knitter for a moment.

The boy however, is moved to ex- press himself and scores of letters received here which are worded simply, express most sincere thanks from the hungry-hearted youth who is overflowing with gratefulness be- cause someone back home has re- membered him. "They are sure fine," he writes and he tells her how he has placed her name down in his notebook and would be glad to hear from her.

The fact that "he would be glad to hear from her"—even though she is a total stranger is the keynote to the entire situation as taken up by the local club women who be- lieve writing to boys who are at least acquaintances will bring double pleasure to them whether in this country or across the sea.

ONLY ONE-DAY CONVENTION

Ranks of Kappa Alpha Phi Frater- nity Are Invaded by War

The seventeenth annual conven- tion of the Kappa Alpha Phi frater- nity will be held in Indianapolis Aug. 3, according to the recent an- nouncement from the state head- quarters. Numerous members of the local chapter have already joined the military and naval service of the United States forces and in view of this fact which is prevalent in every chapter of the national fraternity, the convention will consist of only a one day session, leaving out all so- cial events which have usually form- ed a part of the annual program. With the exception of Thomas Smith of Alexandria, all of the na- tional officers are in military service.

CONGESTION TO BE ELIMINATED

Temporary Hotels and Restaurants To be Erected by Government For Overflow

READY EARLY IN SEPTEMBER

District Council of Defense Pro- vides Accomodations For Those Arriving at Night

Washington, July 15.—The United States civil service commission an- nounces that it is now in a position to state definitely to the public that steps will be taken at once to re- lieve the congested living conditions in Washington, which have been an obstacle in the way of recruiting the civil service to meet war needs. The commission is advised by the de- partment of labor that the erection of temporary hotels and restaurants to be conducted under government supervision for the use of federal employees in Washington, will begin at once.

"Eat Us" and Save the Wheat and Meat for Our Soldier Boys

It is expected that the first units will be ready for occupancy early in September. Accomodations will first be provided for approximately 5,000 persons. Additional accom- modations will be provided as they are needed. Each room will be arranged for the occupancy of but one per- son. In the meantime, the room re- gistration office, which is conducted by the District of Columbia Council of Defense under the auspices of the Council of National Defense, is able to provide rooming and board- ing accommodations for the new ap- pointees. At the latest report the room registration office had on its lists more than 5,000 rooms which had been inspected and found avail- able for government employees.

Those who arrive on late trains may find accommodations for the night by applying at the booth of the District Council of Defense.

WHEAT PRICES ARE ANNOUNCED

All of the Regulations in Force on The Handling of Last Year's Crop. Rescinded

RULES ARE NOT COMPLICATED

Dealers Are Not Permitted to Store Wheat in Their Elevators Longer Than 30 Days

Much confusion exists among farmers and grain dealers concerning the government regulations for handling the present wheat crop. The federal food administration for Indiana has been requested by the State Council of Defense to issue a bulletin setting at rest the public mind on this subject.

All of the regulations in force on handling last year's crop have been rescinded, and in their stead a few very simple rules only are necessary to control the handling of grain. The minimum price of No. 1 wheat is fixed by the U. S. Grain Corporation under authority given by act of congress. This price, as fixed for this vicinity, at present is $2.26, delivered in the elevator at Chicago.

For No. 2 wheat a discount of 3c is fixed. For No. 3 wheat a discount of 7c from No. 1 is fixed. Lower qualities and sample wheat sell at discount, according to value.

The prevailing opinion that a definite price has been fixed which grain dealers shall pay and at which farmers must sell is wrong. No such authority as to fixing prices is given to anyone.

Grain dealers can pay farmers any price they choose—provided, however, it is $2.00 or more per bushel. Owners of wheat can sell to

REP. ELLIOTT IN ON THE BIG CATCH

He and Few Other Congressmen Return From Trip With 200 Pounds of Fish to Their Credit

SEN. WATSON GOES TO WINONA

Washington, July 15.—Representatives Will R. Wood and Richard N. Elliott of Indiana, Ramseyer of Iowa, and Taylor of Arkansas and Ramsey Poundstone, secretary to Representative Elliott, have returned from a two days' fishing stay on Solomon's Island, where they caught 200 pounds of fish. It was their first vacation since congress convened and they returned refreshed and happy.

Representative Elliott with congress beginning on a month's recess, was to depart for Indiana, making the trip by auto. Other members of congress will go later in the week, though some plan to remain here. Senator Watson will join Mrs. Watson at Winona Lake where she has taken a cottage for the summer.

anybody, and ship to any point without consent of the government.

Grain dealers are not allowed to store and hold wheat in their elevators for a period longer than 30 days, without the consent of the food administration.

Grain dealers must buy wheat on government grades. These grades, while more lenient than those under which wheat has heretofore been handled, do introduce one new and important element, that of the moisture test.

The elevator men are compelled under their government license to obey government inspection rules. They have no option in the matter.

The U. S. Grain Corporation has made it absolutely plain and positive that no profiteering will be permitted in handling grain on this crop.

The administration has defined profiteering as the taking of a greater profit on business transactions than was normally received on such transactions before the war.

The expenses of handling grain are, of course, much greater than before the war and the buying margins can, therefore, be legitimately increased to meet such extra expenses.

The food administration of Indiana does not undertake to say that five cents or seven cents per bushel for handling wheat is profiteering. It has had complaints that margins as high as 10c per bushel have been asked and has no hesitancy in saying that it is their judgment that the government would consider this margin as profiteering, and any dealer taking such toll is liable to have his license cancelled.

Evidence of Transportation of Liquor From Wet to Dry Territory Comes to Authorities

SOUTHERN INDIANA TOWNS

Saloon Keepers Who Kept Stock After State Went Dry Are Having Difficulty

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., July 15.—A mass of evidence concerning the violations of the federal law prohibiting the transportation of alcoholic liquors from wet to dry territory has been placed in the hands of government officials and will probably be placed before the next grand jury.

Besides the United States district attorney's forces and agents, the Anti-Saloon league and other prohibition organizations have aided in collecting evidence of the bringing of liquor into Indiana from neighboring states since the dry law was effective.

The grand jury will not meet until October and it is understood that no action will be taken against the alleged offenders until then.

The principal places where evidence was gathered were: New Albany, Jeffersonville, Evansville, Terre Haute, Ft. Wayne, Gary, Union City, Hammond and Richmond.

The traffic between Kentucky and Indiana has been exceptionally heavy, according to reports. Whiskey was imported by the truck loads in some places, according to evidences in the hands of special investigators.

Saloon keepers who retained a supply after the law went into effect with the view of operating "blind tigers," are finding considerable difficulty in disposing of their products and the supply is proving a "white elephant" in most cases.

Local police authorities in some instances are enforcing the law to the best of their ability, the prohibition organization's report shows. However, in some cities where a "wet" administration is in power the regulations are not obeyed. The state may step in and order the law enforced in these places, it was indicated today.

Complaint States That Wheat Mill Feeds Are Mixed With Small Quantities of Other Grain

AVOIDING LOW PRICES SET

Complaints that millers are mixing wheat mill-feeds with small quantities of other grains or feeds, thus avoiding the low price set for mill-feeds, have come to the attention of federal food administrator Dr. Harry E. Barnard.

Where it is apparent that mills are seeking to avoid the effect of the wheat mill-feed prices, Dr. Barnard has asked a complete report covering their operations in this direction. Wheat mill-feeds are still lower than the feeding stuffs, and if the schedule announced June 29 is to be made effective the rule must be strictly enforced. This rule reads as follows: "No wheat miller shall mix any greater percentage of wheat mill feed with other feeding stuffs, or sell any greater percentage to feed mixers for such mixing than he mixed or sold in the year 1917."

SUPERVISORS PAID FROM USUAL FUND

Trustees May Select Teachers in Vocational Training According to New Ruling

CAN NOT USE SCHOOL FUNDS

General Funds Should be Expended to Supply Such Instructors as Patriotic Undertaking

Township trustees of Indiana have authority to employ teachers or others qualified, to supervise the work of school children and others in agriculture vocational training or other emergency war work and pay them out of the general township funds. This advice is being sent to county superintendents of public instruction by Horace Ellis, state superintendent, who bases the statement upon a statement from the attorney general.

Inquiries have come to his office, Supt. Ellis states, asking whether the trustee might employ teachers part time, for such war work, whether the minimum wage law must govern such employment, whether the teacher employed must have license etc.

After an examination of the statutes bearing upon the points enumerated Supt. Ellis points out that while prior to January 12, 1918 there existed no apparent legal way in which public funds might be employed for such purpose, the attorney general in answer to an inquiry "based upon the advisability of using public money to defray expenses in meeting the urgent demands of the government to increase the food production of the country for war purposes under the Act of August 10, 1917, the attorney general said in part:

"I do not think it would be proper for the township trustee or school officers to appropriate money from the school funds of their school corporations for such purpose, but I do believe it is the law that township trustees and other similar officers of political subdivisions should use a reasonable amount of money from the general fund of their townships or municipalities to comply completely with the object of the law and to do the full part of their people in this patriotic proceeding. There is no question in mind but what it is not only their right to so expend such sums, but it is their patriotic duty to do so. It is carrying out a law of the government, which we are all required to obey, and is in furtherance of the most patriotic purpose that the people of a nation can conceive."

Emphasizing that it is manifestly unfair to appropriate any of the school funds, such as might serve to render impossible the full benefit of a normal year's work, or otherwise impair the efficiency of the school system, Supt. Ellis's communication concludes:

"Such sums so appropriated (from the general fund) can be used to employ persons to advise or teach any or all of the inhabitants how to produce more food, how to conserve that which is produced, and also to carry out the plans and arrangements suggested by the local food administrators or other officers acting under said law (of August 10th, 1917)."

This official authorization of the use of the general fund for the benefit of and promotion of war work is expected to result in many Indiana school teachers accepting employment for the vacation period in such tasks as will be of greatest possible usefulness to the nation in successfully carrying out the war program. Many teachers have offered to serve as garden supervisors, food instructors and demonstrators and in other capacities for a less remuneration than received for their regular school work, making the difference a patriotic contribution. The fact that the trustees are held by the state legal authorities to have legal sanction for the use of the general fund for such purposes is expected, also, to serve to stimulate patriotic activity in many communities, where it has slumped or never started because of the lack of financial encouragement and support, Supt. Ellis believes.

TATE RELEASED WHEN HIS STATUS IS PROVED

Telegram From His Commanding Officer at Camp Perry, O., Wires he Was Enroute to Cincinnati

DOUBT ABOUT CAR HE DROVE

Jack D. Tate, on proof contained in a telegram from his commanding officer at Camp Perry, Port Clinton, Ohio, was released from jail Saturday night and went on in the direction of Cincinnati, which he said was his destination, after making arrangements to pay the fine of $5 and costs assessed by Mayor Irvin for driving a machine without metal license plates.

Even though he was allowed to go, there is still some doubt about the ownership of the car he was driving. Chief of Police Yakey telegraphed the chief of police at Port Clinton, inquiring about whether a car answering the description of the one Tate was driving, had been stolen. The Port Clinton chief of police wired back to hold the man if the machine had different front fenders and if there was a patch on the left transmission base. Investigation showed the fenders were different, but several automobile mechanics who examined the car could find no patch on the transmission base.

Tate was arrested Saturday noon for violating the state motor law and suspicion was aroused because he gave a false name and told many conflicting stories. The telegram from the military authorities said he was enroute to Cincinnati, but Tate was unable to explain why he came so far out of his way.

NATIVE OF COUNTY DEAD AT SPICELAND

Dallas Sisson, Formerly Grocer in Union Township, Expires Suddenly of Brights Disease

WAS SON OF NELSON SISSON

Dallas Sisson, 70, a native of this county, died Friday evening at his home in Spiceland as the result of a long illness of Brights disease.

The deceased spent the greater part of his life in this county, residing in Union township where he was engaged in the grocery business. Later he moved to Spiceland where he continued in the same business until his death. The funeral services were conducted this afternoon at the residence.

Although Mr. Sisson had been ill for a long time, his condition was not deemed especially serious and death came suddenly, he being stricken as he was seated quietly at his home. His father, Nelson Sisson, who died in this county several years ago, passed away in the same manner and from the same cause as that which caused the death of Dallas Sisson.

"Pershing's Crusaders"

"Pershing's Crusaders," an official government war film, begins a two days engagement at the Princess theater today. It presents intimate details of the life of the fighting Yankees in France and is a picture which has been highly commended wherever it has been shown. That it is a feature picture out of the ordinary is revealed by the fact that it has lately been shown at all of the big theaters of the country.

workers as the government is asking for immediate duty will be rendered more easily effective by this method, it is felt. With the federal government willing to pay one-half the cost of instructing the mechanics wanted for the army and navy, it is believed many townships in the state will manifest sufficient patriotic interest to direct their attention to such enterprise at once.

HOPE TO ELIMINATE TEACHER SHORTAGE

Normal Schools Are Enjoying Unusually Large Attendance During Summer Term

1917-18 SHORTAGE GENERAL

Teachers Are Now Being Trained to Take up Vocational Work in September

Indianapolis, July 15—Normal schools of Indiana have an unusually large attendance this year and school authorities hope that the shortage of teachers in many counties last year, will be supplied when the term opens in September.

Dr. Horace Ellis, state superintendent of public instruction, today declared that the main shortage last year was in the high schools. Some teachers were transferred from grade work to the high schools.

There is need especially of manual training and agriculture teachers.

Word has been sent out by Dr. Ellis to township trustees that they have the right to employ teachers to supervise vocational training or other war emergency work and pay them out of the general township funds.

This resulted in the employment of many teachers during the vacation period as garden supervisors, food instructors and in other capacities.

Teachers are now being trained in state normal schools to take up vocational work in September and the school authorities are confident that there will be a sufficient supply of capable instructors.

Many teachers, however, have gone into other lines of work on account of the higher wages paid. In Indianapolis alone scores of women who taught in the schools last year have taken up work with industrial plants and they probably will not return to teaching in the autumn. Their places will have to be filled by teachers fresh from normal.

EXPOSES CHATEAU OF FRENCH FAMILY

the celebrated French wine "vin Rouge" or red wine. They were all empty however so it is presumed that the master of the house had a few big parties before he left for the front.

"The house has one of the most complete bell systems I have ever seen. Every down stairs door has a burglar alarm, every room at least one push button and often three to call servants. The water tank that supplied them with water rang a bell when so full and likewise when almost empty. The whole system wound up in the kitchen where there is a board with a drop signal for every push button so that one can tell just where the call is from."

"The house is being cared for at present by four French women. There is a madame from Paris who has charge of the chateau, her maid, her cook and housekeeper. Luckily Madame could talk English and told me all about the place. The furnishings especially were her delight and her description of the Louis 14th furniture, I assure you was most complete.

"The furniture is between three and four hundred years old, is full of worm holes and age cracks. The more holes and cracks in the furniture, I learned, gave it more money value. The beds are large and deep. One would almost be covered over with the soft mattresses and a canopy completely encloses them. A pendant push button hangs by every bed so if one wished to have breakfast served in bed all there was to do was to push the button—that was before the war however.

"While we were at the chateau, although we returned to camp each night, which was ten miles distant, we ate lunch at the chateau. They were meals we will not soon forget and were undoubtedly the finest we have eaten since coming over. We ate off of china too, a thing which rarely happens, the old aluminum mess kits, we wash ourselves after every meal, being all the rage.

"The French work very slowly, Madame said, and was surprised at the speed with which we Americans completed our work. She said that had she sent for French workmen, it would have taken at least six of them to complete it and in all probability would have been on the job for more than a week.

"The plumbers, lucky devils, who were working with me, haven't quite completed their work and will get to return to this paradise tomorrow and if Madame is gracious will again get to lunch from real French china. Since my work is done, however, there is nothing for me to do but to return to camp."
